

Ned Reddrop, CIP

CONTENT DEVELOPER

Mr. Reddrop is a storyteller, trained interpreter, and certified planner. He assists in developing content, performing research and writing text. He loves crafting ideas and words, and with his background in interpretation and language, he will help ensure that the project successfully delivers an enduring message. His writing for the Laogai Research Foundation recently won an award at the 2012 American Alliance of Museums Label Writing Competition.

EXPERIENCE THE DESIGN MINDS, INC., Content Developer
Fairfax, Virginia, October 2008-present

CAPE HATTERAS NATIONAL SEASHORE, National Park Ranger
Buxton, North Carolina, May-October, 2008

GODKIL LANGUAGE CENTER, English Teacher
Istanbul, Turkey, 2007-2008

EDUCATION DAVIDSON COLLEGE, Davidson, North Carolina
B.A., Classics, 2007

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF INTERPRETATION
Certified Interpretive Planner, 2011

LIST OF PROJECTS

National Park Service
IDIQ Contracts—Various Projects
Acadia National Park (Maine)
Alibates Flint Quarries (Texas)
Fort Scott (Kansas)
Fort Washington Park (Virginia)
Hot Springs (Arkansas)
Jean Lafitte Visitor Center Storefront
(Louisiana)
National Park of American Samoa

Laogai Research Foundation
Laogai Museum
Washington, D.C.

Historical Society for the U.S. District
Court, District of Maryland
Admiralty, Environmental Law Exhibits
Baltimore, Maryland
Civil Rights Exhibits
Greenbelt, Maryland

Northern Virginia Recreational Park
Association
Potomac Overlook Nature Center
“Energerium” and “Kids’ Cave”
Arlington, Virginia

McLeod Plantation
Interpretive Planning and Implementation
Charleston, South Carolina

Wyoming State Museum
Planning and Exhibit Design
Cheyenne, Wyoming

First Freedom Center
Visitor Center Exhibits
Richmond, Virginia

West Virginia Independence Hall
“Waving for Liberty and the Union”
Wheeling, West Virginia

Army Basic Combat Training Museum
Fort Jackson
Columbia, South Carolina

Carter Family Fold
Museum Exhibits
Hiltons, Virginia